WELCOME

Welcome to Sampurna – to the Montfort Family!

Congratulations for choosing Montfort College for your higher education and training. We are pleased to have you with us. We hope your time here will be enjoyable, productive and fulfilling. Many different reasons would have brought you to these portals of learning; we are hoping that foremost among them is a sincere yearning for knowledge. Carl Rogers words, “the only person who is educated is the one who has learned how to learn and change” capture our philosophy. During the time you spend with us, we exhort you to focus on ‘learning to change positively’, since change is inevitable in life. You have come this far in your journey of life gathering many experiences, values, views, and attitudes. Many of them are healthy and life-enhancing and will help you in your quest for enlightenment and liberation. But some of them may lead you towards negative ways of viewing life. We urge you to grab every opportunity you are provided with here and to remove these negative elements from your minds and hearts. With this unwanted baggage shed, you will become lighter and be able to scale greater heights in life.

Today, the world needs help to tackle the many evils plaguing it. Damage to the psyche is reaching immense proportions and there are very few qualified to lend a helping hand. We aim through our training to equip you with the necessary knowledge, skills, and attitudes that will empower you to function effectively in the mental health profession, energizing everyone you come in contact with. We invite you to join us in our lofty pursuit, using all your learning experiences as a platform to refine your skills and expand your knowledge base. Our faculty and staff will support you in every way possible. We, as a family, try to maintain a culture that treats all with fairness and justice. You can expect from us the best possible that any college can offer.

As you peruse the pages of this handbook, you will begin to realise your responsibilities and privileges as well as our expectations from you. Be proactive, honest and responsible; treat every person with respect and excel in every task assigned to you. We are confident that in course of time, many of you will consider this college as a ‘home away from home’. As you spend your time here, you will begin to understand that Sampurna is a unique institution, in both the way it functions and the way it treats people.

We are proud of those who get high marks and great awards. These are indeed worthy accomplishments. However, we are more proud of those who have learned to serve sincerely with dedication, those who show care and compassion, those who create safe spaces for people in need and those who understand that every human situation is worthy of help and deserving of respect. Our world needs many more able shoulders to carry its burden. We hope you will become such a shoulder! Wishing you the best. May God bless you!

The inner circle of eight petals represents our core values

The word “Sampurna” at the centre of the mandala signifies the wholeness within.

THE MOTTO

The college motto is “Liberation with Enlightenment”, signifying that liberation of the deepest kind is possible only through knowledge, leading to enlightenment.

The intuitive mind is a sacred gift and the rational mind is a faithful servant. We have created a society that honors the servant and has forgotten the gift.

(Albert Einstein)

MONTFORT BROTHERS OF ST. GABRIEL

A Christian Religious Order educating and empowering the youth and the marginalised, in the footsteps of St. Montfort Montfort Brothers of St. Gabriel are part of the worldwide Montfortian family founded by St. Louis Marie Grignon de Montfort in France in the early period of the 18th Century. He lived in a time when Europe was plunged in economic stagnation. Most of the population lived below the poverty line, without proper housing and means of livelihood. Despite his affluent background, Louis Grignon opted to work with the poor, promoting their rights and enunciating the duties of the affluent society towards the poor. He established many charitable schools for the poor, educating the youth to become upright men and women; instilling in them love for God and love for the less privileged. These schools later became instruments for social transformation.

Carrying the mantle of this great man, Montfort Brothers of St. Gabriel have been continuing with a similar mission in India since 1903; mostly for the poor and rural population. Presently, the Montfort Brothers manage over 175 educational and career oriented institutions in India in the field of general education, vocational training and the education of the visually challenged and the hearing impaired.

MONTFORT COLLEGE SOCIETY

The Montfort College Society was established in 1984 as part of the initiative of Montfort Brothers to further the cause of higher education in India and contribute to the overall holistic growth and development of the youth of the Nature.

Today along with rapid economic growth, we see the breakdown of joint family system and changes in the traditional concept of family. A growing emphasis on the ‘individual’ (rather than the ‘group’), with increasing demands for achievement, and the absence of traditional support systems compromise emotional, physical, mental and spiritual health of individuals. The diminishing familial support and the increasing demands of life make it imperative for Mental Health Professionals to evolve creative and need-based responses for the growing concerns of individuals. In order to address the large requirement for trained mental health professionals in educational, family, health-care and industrial settings, Montfort College Society has pioneered counsellor education training in India.

MONTFORT COLLEGE

Montfort College was established in the year 1995 to offer a post graduate diploma in holistic psychological counselling. From 1998, it has been conducting M Sc. Psychological Counselling, affiliated to Bangalore University and later, from 2005 onwards, M Sc. Psychology was included. In 2005, Montfort College was recognised as a Research Centre of Bangalore University. Its curricula entail teaching, evaluation, therapy, counselling and research in different sub-disciplines of psychology. Montfort College maintains a strong foundation which adapts effectively to cultural diversity and the needs of the youth. The programmes at Montfort College aim at equipping students with both conceptual inputs and hands-on skills training to identify and respond effectively to the needs of individuals and social systems. In 2018, with trifurcation of Bangalore University, Montfort College has become affiliated to Bengaluru North University. It continues to offer M.Sc in Counselling Psychology & M.Sc in Psychology.

At Montfort College, we pride ourselves on our tradition of maintaining friendly personal contact among faculty and students, encouraging a family atmosphere conducive for studies as well as personal growth. Although it is a Christian Minority Institution, we welcome everyone without distinction of caste, creed or community.

PHILOSOPHY OF SAMPURNA

The philosophy of Sampurna is reflected in its motto “Liberation with Enlightenment”. Students are invited to explore the depths of their being, for true enlightenment comes from knowing oneself. In this process, they are encouraged to build their strengths and to work through those aspects of self that hold them back from realizing their full potential. The atmosphere is one of positivity, acceptance, and tolerance.

PUNCTUALITY

Students are expected to be in the classroom by the first bell at 8:55 am. The second bell at 9:00 am signifies the commencement of the classes. Classes scheduled during regular class hours should be given priority over other activities. Students are responsible for preparation and presentation of their own work, through their individual effort. Acceptance of this responsibility is essential to the educational process and must be considered as an expression of mutual trust, the foundation upon which their academic progress stands. Students are directed to use great care when preparing written work and to acknowledge correctly and fully, the source of all ideas and language, other than their own. Unless there are serious reasons for absence on the day of a test or quiz, etc. no marks may be awarded for the missed work. However, a faculty member may excuse a student from a test, project, assignment, or quiz for reasons beyond the student's control & allow them to retake/resubmit the same. This is at the discretion of the faculty in charge.

- Students are expected to maintain 100% attendance through the academic term. This may ensure that the necessary 75% will be maintained in the event of an unexpected illness or emergency.
- Realise that the number of classes held in a month for each paper are few and every absence will visibly affect the attendance percentage.
- Come on time to class so that you have a complete experience. If you are late, the faculty member may refuse entry or refuse to mark your attendance for the hour.
- Students who have low attendance (80% or less) will be given oral/written warnings via emails by faculty. They are expected to acknowledge the same and do the needful to make up the necessary percentage.
- As per the University guidelines, students who do not have the minimum required attendance of 75% in each paper will not be eligible to pay exam fees or write end semester exams.

LEAVE APPLICATION PROCESS

- Submit leave application in advance, in case you plan to take leave. The application form is available in the administrative office. Get the leave form signed by all the faculty members whose classes you would miss and then submit it to the Principal/Coordinator for approval.
- Inform the class representative or a classmate if you are unable to attend class on any given day, due to an emergency who can then inform the faculty members for the day. On return, apply for leave in retrospect in the form mentioned above.
- Check with a faculty member or class representative about what happened in class during your absence and also about what you need to complete before the next class.
- Obtain prior permission from faculty members before approaching the Principal/coordinator to attend seminars, workshops or co-curricular activities, if you will miss classes on account of them.
- Use the convalescence room (Second floor room no. 11) if you are not keeping well and are unable to stay in class. You will not get attendance for this. Kindly avoid sleeping/ putting your head down in class citing reasons of poor health.

PROFESSIONALISM

Students are responsible to the academic community for the preparation and presentation of work representing their own individual efforts. Acceptance of this responsibility is essential to the educational process and must be considered as an expression of mutual trust, the foundation upon which their academic progress depends. Students are directed to use great care when preparing all written work and to acknowledge fully the source of all ideas and language other than their own. When tasks are assigned in groups /teams, the team has to ensure that tasks are distributed fairly across all members considering individual ability; every member has to contribute fairly to the combined effort.

STUDENT –TEACHER INTERACTION

Students are encouraged to facilitate the student – teacher interactions by making appointments in advance in consultation with the faculty members for project work/ practicum and research supervision. Students are expected to utilise the student teacher interaction time between 3:40 – 4:40 pm for all types of academic related queries and remedial learning work.

INTERPERSONAL INTERACTIONS

- Students are expected to have a cordial relationship with all their peers, encouraging each other to excel in curricular, co-curricular, and extra-curricular activities. Each member is expected to respect the other without discrimination of religion, caste, gender, socio-economic status or other individual differences.

- Students are expected to maintain professional and personal boundaries with peers and staff.
- Physical contact (touching, holding, pulling, pushing, etc.) that the other person is uncomfortable with is to be avoided on campus. While we encourage healthy interpersonal relationships that promote growth, any display of romantic relationships or behaviour leading to it is not acceptable on campus.
- Though the college is not responsible for the conduct of its students outside its premises, it will take note of any serious misconduct of students outside the campus.

It can be collected from the Principal, after submitting an apology letter. The Principal will determine the time of return. With repeated offences, the instrument may not be returned. Technological devices can be used in the class, if a teacher permits its use for the purpose of learning.
- Certain learning-related activities may require the use of PCs, smart phones, etc. In such cases, the teachers will give you permission to use the same. The use of these devices will be restricted to learning activities related to the class in progress only. The permission to use the device extends only until the completion of the activity or until the end of that class, whichever comes sooner. The devices may not be used during discussion of concepts unless permitted by the teacher.

- If you intend to use laptops to take notes, you need to ask for explicit permission from the teacher in charge. There may be times when you will not be allowed to do this, even if you had been permitted to do so earlier. The permission is given solely at the discretion of the teacher.
- Use of audio / video recording devices is not permitted except with the explicit permission. No lecture / class activity can be recorded in part or whole at any time, without permission.
- Possession of mobile phones, blue tooth, or similar electronic devices during evaluation related activities (such as internal tests or external exams) is deemed as resorting to unfair means during examination and is considered as a serious malpractice. BREAKS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

Students are expected to restrict their breaks to the time allotted. Recognize that the bell is rung to remind you to come back to class. Students are expected to be inside the class as soon as the bell rings. Wait for a break to make announcements in class. Refrain from interrupting classes to make announcements. If you are a member of the student council and must communicate messages from the student council to the class, use the class representatives who will communicate them to the class at an appropriate time.

LEARNING CONTRACT

As a student working at postgraduate level, you are expected to demonstrate creativity in your approach to both theoretical and practical knowledge. We the faculty, exhort you to join us in constructive debate and to challenge the information provided actively as we seek to reconstruct traditions, professional theories, and personal methodologies. This can at times be an uncomfortable process for the student as well as the teacher. As a student coming on these pathways, we encourage you to enter into a learning contract with us, which attempts to define the responsibility of both faculty and students.

The main principles for this contract are:

FOR US, THE FACULTY AND THE STUDENT:

- To value each other as intrinsically worthwhile human beings
- To observe the spirit of equal opportunity and anti-oppressive practices and seek ways to make policies and procedures effective for everyone.
- To work in an open and honest way with each other.
- To be non-defensive when challenged.
- To be open to new ideas.
- To actively challenge and reconstruct current theoretical and practical positions.

FOR YOU, THE STUDENT

- To take responsibility for your own learning process in relation to the learning outcomes of your particular specialised programme and chosen pathway.
- To use every opportunity to improve personal and professional skills.
- To create for yourself, opportunities to become aware of your 'self' and its dynamics with others.
- To approach every learning experience in a professional manner and treat it with the solemnity and sincerity it deserves.

FOR US, THE FACULTY

- To facilitate student learning.
- To treat the student as a collaborator in the academic endeavour.
- To undertake assessment in a fair and unbiased manner in relation to the established criteria, especially with regard to the learning outcomes.

It is expected that students will read and abide by the Learning Contract provided in this document.

TEACHING-LEARNING MODES AND METHODS

- We treat you as an adult learner and expect you to carry the onus of own learning, preparing for class tests, exams, and for life.
- Faculty members may use any teaching aid they deem necessary and efficient in order to provide the knowledge.
- Various teaching-learning activities will be adopted for all-round and holistic learning. These may include: lectures, discussions, group activities, video reviews, presentations by students, peer learning, debates etc.
- Through these activities, faculty members will cover about 70% of the syllabus. Students are expected to be present and participate actively in all these activities to fully benefit from the learning experience.
- Students are expected to carry out self-study for the remaining 30% of the syllabus, which is to be outlined / evaluated in the class.
- Faculty will provide only the guidelines and references for the notes.
- Students are encouraged to use the library extensively and make notes.
- Students cannot expect the faculty to hand over their power-point slides, class notes, or notes of any other nature.

- Students are expected not to compare faculty members just as faculty members will not compare students; we recognize that each individual has a unique contribution to make to the TLE.

SUBMISSIONS, TESTS, AND ASSIGNMENTS

- Submit practical records, assignments, reports etc. on time; no extensions of deadlines will be given. If a faculty member agrees to give an extension due to certain reasons, the assignment will be given only a certain per cent of the marks that would have been given, had the assignment been submitted on time.
- A faculty member is within his/her rights to refuse to give marks for submissions that are below standard, are overdue, or are suspected as not student's own work.
- Test/evaluation dates are given ahead of time. If students are absent for a test, they will NOT be allowed to re-take it unless they have obtained permission of the concerned faculty member IN ADVANCE. Any student who takes a re-test for having missed a test will only get a certain percentage of the marks the student actually earns. This can range from 50% to 80%. It is up to the faculty to decide if a student can take a retest for improving own performance or not. Decision to give re-test lies at the discretion of the concerned faculty.
- If a student misses a surprise test that is counted for internal assessment, she/he will be permitted to re-take the test at the faculty member's convenience and in this case, will get the full deserving marks, since surprise tests have no advance warning.

SELF-DIRECTED LEARNING

As adult learners, taking the onus for one's own learning is a very important skill. We at Montfort note that each individual is unique in what professional interests they have, what skills and knowledge-base they wish to develop, how they prefer to access and understand information, and how they evaluate their understanding and acquisition of these knowledge and skills. Making space for such diversity to thrive is indeed one of the thrust areas of the college and towards this end, Montfort College has introduced Self-directed learning. Through this process, we hope to enhance self-awareness of the kind of learners our students are and to help them develop the skills mentioned above. This process provides students with an opportunity to set their own learning goals, engage with the material in the manner most suitable to their skills, abilities, and readiness and finally meet learning goals that are personally meaningful to them. As students at Montfort College, you can expect that some portions of the curriculum will be set aside for self-directed learning. Time will also be made available in the class schedules for the same. During these sessions, your course teachers will provide you with leads regarding the different sources from where different types of material relevant to the topic will be available. You will have the freedom to choose the material most suitable to your own learning style and preference, engage with the same, and evaluate your understanding of the material. You will be oriented to self-directed learning during the induction program as well as at the beginning of each course. You may connect with the academic coordinator or course teachers or your mentor for any further assistance regarding the same.

MEMO SYSTEM

Students are expected to take responsibility for own behaviour and studies. Failure to do so may warrant issuance of memos for the same. The first memo will be served directly to the student and is acknowledgement due. The second memo will go to student's parent/guardian, the Principal/Director as well as to the student. Students who get memos are expected to rectify the behaviour suitably to obviate further consequences.

GOOGLE GROUPS

Every class is expected to create a Google group including the email ids of all students in the class. This ensures that all communication from the college reaches the students and that no student is left out from the communication loop. The faculty members as well as the administration will need this group id, to be able to send information to the students. The group id should be in the following format:

mccp2021-23@montfortcollege.edu.in for the students of Counselling Psychology and mcpsy2021-23@montfortcollege.edu.in for the students of Psychology

CASE CONFERENCES

Regularly, the entire student body and faculty assemble for case conference. In this gathering, student practitioners (usually third or fourth semester students) will present a clinical/counselling case on which they are working. This is followed by discussion and feedback. Montfort College prides itself in these case conferences as they provide a forum of learning from many real-life cases; an opportunity that is unavailable to many. As such, students are expected to be present at EVERY case conference and participate actively in conceptualization, diagnosis, and treatment planning. This forum is non-judgemental and students are expected to treat the forum with sanctity, confidentiality and respect.

Regulations expected in the case conference:

FOR THE ATTENDEES

- Come on time.
- Collect case conference work sheet from the volunteers, one sheet per student.

- Complete the sheet given and return it to the class representative at the end of the conference, this will be the students' record of attendance.
- Do not discuss while the presenter is speaking; you may miss out on some vital information. Rather, make a note in own notebook or on the case conference sheet and then discuss when given the opportunity.
- Do not interrupt a speaker.
- When you have something to contribute, hold your hand up and wait for the microphone to be brought to you.
- Do not say anything that is demeaning, overly critical, upsetting, or seems to ridicule any person(s), culture(s), etc.
- Communicate your own observations / experiences as objectively as possible.

HONOURS PROGRAMME

Honours programme is an opportunity for meritorious students to utilise their skills further. This takes them a step ahead of others. Those who are interested in enrolling for this programme may meet the coordinator for further information. There is a separate handbook with the honours programme details which will be made available on payment of the fees.

EVALUATION

There are two forms of evaluation, internal assessments carried out by the college and external assessments carried out by the University.

INTERNAL ASSESSMENT AND EVALUATION

The college follows the guidelines given by the affiliating university for continuous internal assessment. The total marks for internal assessment are 30% of the total marks for each paper. This is assessed at different points of time in the semester. The details of the internal assessment for each paper will be given by the concerned subject teachers.

In case a student fails to attend the evaluation activity on a scheduled date, University regulations deem that the student has dropped the test. As such, the student may not be given another assessment in lieu of the missed one. However, in special cases and genuine circumstances, the student may be allowed a re-assessment but may only earn a percentage of the actual marks. This will be dealt with on a case-by-case basis. For the tests and assignments, students are expected to bring their own stationery including paper of A4 size.

OUTCOME-BASED EVALUATION

Outcome-based evaluation is a measure of whether educational objectives are translating into tangible outcomes for students. Montfort College has introduced this process in phases from the calendar year 2020 in its constant effort to maintain high standards of training. The framework used at Montfort College is the Revised Bloom's Taxonomy of the Cognitive Domain (Anderson and Krathwohl, 2001) for evaluation of not just the basic levels of learning but also of higher order thinking skills. The college has developed Graduate Attributes, Program Outcomes, and Program Specific Outcomes for all its programs which are available on the college website.

As students at Montfort College, you can expect that all the courses that you take will have specified course outcomes which will be mapped to program outcomes and program specific outcomes. You can chart your own progress towards the achievement of these outcomes through the semesters and they will also be clarified to you by your course teachers through the evaluation process. You will be oriented to outcome-based evaluation during the induction program as well as at the beginning of each course. You may connect with the academic coordinator or course teachers or your mentor for any further assistance regarding the same.

END SEMESTER EXAMINATIONS

At the end of each semester, Bengaluru North University conducts end semester examinations, which carry 70% of the marks for each paper. Students are expected to report to the allotted centre on time, formally dressed, with the ID card and hall ticket issued by Montfort College. They are expected to behave with dignity and decorum when in the examination centre and follow the rules of both Montfort College and the centre as their behaviour will reflect both on them as well as on the Institution.

Practical examinations will be carried out on campus. For these, students are expected to come prepared with the required subjects/ clients. The college will not be responsible for providing any student with clients / subjects, for practical examinations.

ENGAGEMENT BEYOND CLASS ROOM

This is to encourage students to take up and start publishing their ideas through articles, drawings, cartoons, etc. Elixir is a student initiative with the editorial team composed primarily of students under the guidance of a faculty coordinator. Students are encouraged to contribute regularly and edit and publish the same.

FOCUS ON THE PERSON

At Sampurna, every student is treated as a unique person and hence every attempt is made to meet the diverse needs of the students. We aim to help our students reach their optimum potential.

Participation as a client in individual and group therapy is a growth experience for the student. It is also a significant educational aspect of the programme to prepare mental health professionals. At Montfort, individual and group therapy are offered by trained therapists. It is mandatory for counselling trainees to undergo personal and group therapy, while it is highly recommended for others. A minimum six such sessions per semester are mandated of Counselling trainees.

Basic academic workshops are conducted frequently for the benefit of the students. Students are able to utilise these workshops as hands-on learning, apart from their regular classes.

Remedial / Supplementary classes are conducted for students who find it difficult to cope with the curriculum.

In addition to the above, Montfort College offers various Certificate Courses on Full Time and Part Time basis. These programmes benefit anyone who works in social work, education, health care and are also useful for parents and corporate employees.

To be an effective and efficient mental health professional, one needs to develop appropriate professional skills in one's area of specialization. With this in mind, the college has taken the initiative to train the students in professional skills required to function as a mental health professional.

MENTORING

Montfort College aims at holistic development of all its students. Towards this, it has many practices in place, of which mentoring is one. Mentoring is a process by which a protégé is helped to grow personally and professionally under the guidance of a mentor. At Montfort College, each student is allotted a mentor who will take up this task. The college will help you by creating protégé profiles for you in which your personality-style, your multiple intelligences, and your learning styles are assessed. Further, you are assisted to chalk your long-term and short-term goals with clear and measurable tasks using the SMART goals framework. With these aids, you will be able to efficiently use the allotted mentoring sessions to develop both personally and professionally. Your mentors will also be available to help you with any concerns you are facing in your classes or coursework. They may make recommendations they deem appropriate to enable you to grow.

CITIZENSHIP TRAINING AND STUDENT COUNCIL

Citizenship training is aimed to evolve student's responsibility in upholding and adhering to the law and order of the society and to create a healthy environment. To help inculcate the above virtues, the college has established the Students' Council (SC) and its members are elected by the students. SC is also the representative body of student community of the college. SC helps to share students' interests, ideas and concerns with student community, staff and the Management. While it must not be mistaken for a student union, SC is expected to foster a spirit of cooperation among students by organizing events/activities in the best interest of the college and to promote Montfortian ethos. The SC trains and encourages students to become young leaders.

Every class will have an elected representative in the Student Council. A separate hand-out is issued for more details on eligibility, election process, duties and activities of Student Council.
